Bay child struck by car

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Bay Middle School fourth grader Adam Dahlgren, 9, remained in critical condition in the Ochsner Hospital pediatric intensive care unit Wednesday after being struck by a car Tuesday on Old Spanish Trail.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Department accident reconstruction specialist Lt. David Sellier, Dahlgren darted in front of a green Ford Mustang driven by Patricia Breland, 42, of Bay

St. Louis. Breland and her daughter were heading east on Old Spanish Trail when the accident occurred near Louis Piernas Street at approximately 7:22 a.m.

Dahlgren was transported by Mobile Medic to Hancock Medical Center, where he was treated for multiple injuries including severe head trauma, said Sellier.

He was transferred by helicopter to Ochsner. Sellier said no charges are anticipated.

Violence deterred at HHS after police involvement

BY AMY PICKICH

Hancock County School superintendent Myrna Bourgeois told school board members Tuesday that police removal of students fighting at school has deterred violence on campus.

Bourgeois said principals have reported zero repeat offenders once those fighting were removed by policemen.

"It is board policy to remove any student who endangers another," Bourgeois said.

After much discussion, the board approved to enter a contract with the architect firm of Mykolyk and Associates, for four additional classrooms and a media center at Gulfview Elementary. Other additions were put on hold.

Bourgeois said plans should not exceed $600,000.

Board president Lenette Necaise voted against the motion requesting the board look into the cost and feasibility of a middle school.

"We need to get something started at Gulfview; it's packed down there," board member Larry Peterson said.

Said member Cheryl Bennett, "I don't want to spend a lot of money and just band-aid it."

"We have long-range plans for a middle school, but we also need to do something now," said Bourgeois. "We need those classrooms right now...you don't realize the growth."

She said the seventh grade alone has some 300 students.

Bourgeois said the casinos have had a definite impact on the district. She said in the last couple of weeks, two to three new students come into the district a day.

ALTERNATIVE EDUCATION

Board member Carol Bustetter presented an update on the alternative education program to help students who are not successful in traditional classrooms.

Bustetter said 22 students were chosen to enter the program, including four in special education. She said that some were put directly into the GED program after interviewing for the alternative education program.

The board approved to adopt

Roadblocks to be used to check tags

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Motorists will be subject to roadblocks in Hancock County beginning Monday, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

"We are receiving a lot of complaints about vehicles with out-of-state license tags with owners residing in the area," Peterson said.

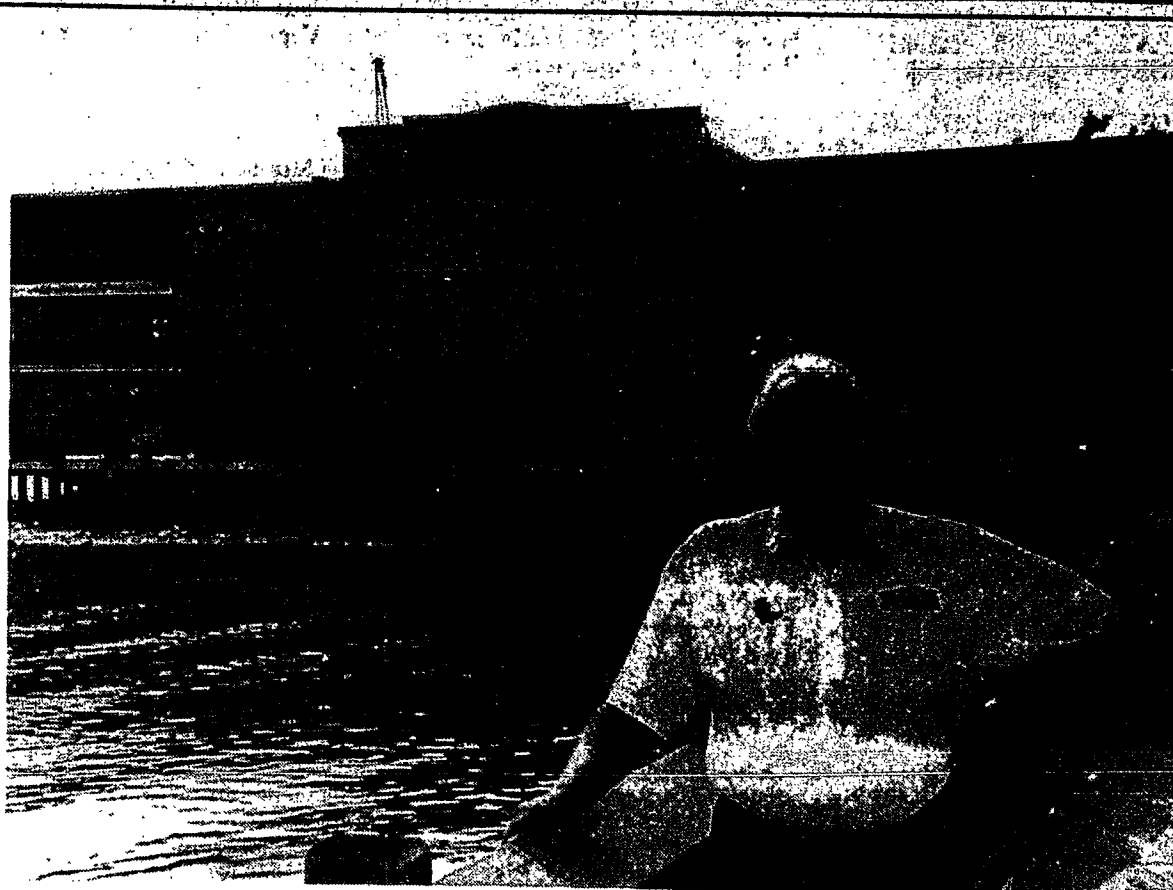

State law requires a Mississippi tag be purchased within 30 days and a state driver's license within 60 days for new residents, Peterson said.

"We will have roadblocks beginning next Monday throughout the county to check on proper drivers licenses, car tags, inspection stickers and headlights, etc.," Peterson added.

The sheriff indicated some roadblocks will set up at night as well as during the day.

"This is an annual procedure by the sheriff's department to set up roadblocks," Peterson said.

Usually a large number of motorists are cited for various violations during the roadblocks.

Jubilee on the move

Bayou Caddy casino hopes to open by mid-Nov.

BY AMY PICKICH

Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino drew a crowd from Biloxi to its Lakeshore destination during the gaming vessel's 17-hour trip Saturday.

"We were quite excited to have it moved," said George Baxter, Jubilee's chief operating officer. "This has been a 32-month dream."

"The 240-ft. long, 72-ft. wide and 76-ft high barge arrived at its new home in Lakeshore, just west of Waveland, Sunday morning, but not without a few tricky maneuvers."

The New Orleans-style floating casino began traveling east from a ship building yard near I-10 in Gulfport, then through canals and inland waterways to Biloxi.

Three tugs maneuvered the four-story vessel through narrow clearances and several bridges before entering Gulf waters and turning east toward Lakeshore.

To ensure safe passage as the barge passed beneath a series of high voltage power lines, some Gulfport residents were without power for a short time Saturday.

According to Mike Blaisdell, special programs representative for Jubilee, the trip was trouble-free, except for temporarily interrupted bridge traffic.

Blaisdell said motorists did not seem to mind the interruption, as they left their cars to cheer when the casino passed.

The floating casino will feature more than 40,000-sq.-ft. of gaming on two floors, including 60 table games, 875 slot and video poker machines and a poker room.

The top floor will house a restaurant and lounge. The entire bottom floor of the barge, 2/3 of which is underwater, will be used for office space.

Baxter said the casino is uniquely designed in the style of French Quarter buildings and will feature headline entertainment nightly.

The casino, worth over $35

Bay renews recycling contract

BY AMY PICKICH

Bay St. Louis City Council members renewed a three-year contract with Gulf Coast Recycling Tuesday at a cost $6,060 a month to the city to service 3,500 residences.

The action came after many discussions to iron out contract specifics to make curbside recycling available to more areas and to incorporate additional recyclable items as a viable market becomes available.

Councilman Tad Black, who previously requested additional time to negotiate contract specifics, said, "My main concern is that we wouldn't be able to offer recycling to all residents."

The board is also working with the planning and zoning commission in tracking recycling efforts to evaluate the city's participation rate.

"Gulf Coast Recycling is very grateful to the city of Bay St. Louis for helping us demonstrate the necessity and importance of solid waste recycling..." said Penny Penrose, GCR executive director. "We think you're creating a model city for the state. We thank you."

SPANISH ACRES

Residents of Spanish Acres subdivision requested increased patrol of speeding and 15 mph signs in the area where many children play.

They also requested work on culverts where a child recently fell.

Mayor Eddie Favre told residents speed signs and more patrol would be implemented to ensure safety.

The council continued its property cleanup efforts as four properties were declared a menace. One case was closed and five were given extensions.

The mayor informed the board of a lawsuit, April vs. the City of Bay St. Louis, scheduled for November 8.

Favre said the suit was filed as a result of property cleanup efforts, in which a house was removed from property that was declared a menace.

The council authorized Favre to work with the police on street closings for Halloween safety.

The council approved the mayor's recommendation to accept a bid from Lee Tractor Company at $34,647 for city equipment, contingent upon written documentation from council attorney John Scafide that the action is legal.

Favre said this was not the low bid, but the only bid that met the specifications.

UNFUNDED MANDATES
The council adopted a resolution asking the state legislature to pass a constitutional amendment to allow the voters of Mississippi the opportunity to end the unfair and costly practice of mandates without funding.

The issue is expected to come before the legislature in 1994, which would place a constitutional amendment on the ballot next November.

Pressure check

Kiln resident JoAnn Holden, right, is among the first to have a free blood pressure check at the Hancock Medical Center's Kiln health screening station Wednesday by HMC Auxiliary member Shirley Clemons. Health screenings will be offered by the hospital from 8:30 a.m. to noon each Wednesday at the Kiln Community Center, Highway 43. The service is in cooperation with the North Hancock Business and Professional Association. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Turning lane at 603 Kiln to become reality

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The gathering of numerous bright orange turn-of-maintenance trucks and road construction equipment at the Delisle Road intersection was a welcome sight to residents this week.

The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) completed preliminary construction of turning lanes at Highway 603, Kiln.

Lumus Jeffcoat, MDOT district superintendent, added six feet on each side of Highway 603 to the intersection of the Kiln Delisle Road.

"This will enable the construction of a turning lane on each side of the intersection."

In order to achieve this necessary width, the MDOT installed 18-inch and 40-foot of 24-inch drainage pipes.

State Representative Harry Harrison, who is on the Legislative Transportation Committee, said the Kiln intersection will continue to be a major traffic bottleneck.

"The next step for Hancock County is to complete the intersection of Highway 43 and Highway 603," Harrison said.

ZONING

As recommended by the planning and zoning commission, the council approved:

- one ground sign of 10-sq.-ft. maximum area and 6-sq.-ft. maximum height from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at 412 Main St.
- a special subdivision request to sell lots separately at 128 Felicity, contingent upon requests of commission;
- the location of a residential care center and 10-sq.-ft. in area and 6-sq.-ft. in height sign at 725 Dunbar, contingent upon requests of commission;
- to deny the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance from R-2 to C-2 because it is an illegal zoning spot, character of neighborhood is residential and zoned residential, and there is no public need to rezone area as commercial property is abundant elsewhere.

The council held the "Site Plan Review" and "Supplemental Standards" amendment as revised to the current zoning ordinance until the next meeting.

In other matters, the board approved:

- the purchase of ads from Mississippi Jazz Society for $60, Bay High French Students for $150 and Alcorn Alumni for $60.
- the mayor's recommendation to accept the city's account ing audit from Moore and Powell;

—a 20 percent payment on the Highway 90 lighting project. The state will pay 80 percent;

—the payment of $2,357.87 to Russell A. Garner and Associates for engineering services;

—the week of October 17-23 as National School Bus Safety Week;

—the claims dockets for fiscal year 1992 at $37,658.84 and for 1993 at $28,842.28.

The council went into executive session to discuss parks and playground personnel items.

the forestry commission's Gopher Tortoise Protection Guidelines for state owned lands and all future guidelines adopted by the commission, pursuant to the Endangered Species Act of 1973 to be in the forestry management practices on lands owned by the district.

The board also authorized Hancock County forester Mark Jamieson to advertise for bids.

The board found that an "unsafe situation exists" at a bus stop where a stranger was reported to approach a child.

They approved to allow a bus to travel some three-tenths of mile further on a route to ensure the safety of children at a bus stop.

The board approved request from a religious group for use of a school district field on a Saturday.

Board attorney Steve Benvenutti said he saw no problems "as long as they use it under the same guidelines as any other group."

APPROVALS

Bryan Fulton, with the DOT engineering department said, "The construction, including the addition of turning lanes on Highway 603, should make the intersection a lot safer. The additional culverts should give better drainage, too."

Billie Faye Lyons, president of the North Hancock Business and Professional Association, reported her group had been meeting the past 18 months with Ronnie Shows, Southern Highway Commissioner for help at the intersection.

Following the base work completion by his crew, the DOT's asphalt and striping crews will come in and complete the project, Jeffcoat said.

There have been several serious accidents at the intersection in recent years.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Both Hancock High and St. Stanislaus will be celebrating homecoming Friday night.

Hancock will play host to the Bay High Tigers, while Stanislaus will host conference leader East Central.

Bay High is riding high on a 28-16 victory over Stanislaus, while Hancock was crushed by East Central last Friday 35-0.

Hancock still has a slim chance of getting into the playoffs with a 2-2 Division 8, 4-A record for the season, and Bay High is 1-3 in conference play.

This should be a good game, as both the Tigers and Hawks have had some very good games this season and are usually 'up' for their annual encounter.

Nothing is impossible in high school football, but the Rock-A-Chaws would have to pull the coastal high school football upset of the century to defeat East Central's Hornets.

The last two games saw the Rocks making improvements and putting some points on the scoreboard. The 16 points last Friday were their season high.

It appears the caliber of teams the Rocks are playing have been increasing each week, too.

Homecoming brings big crowds, and both Hawk and Rock-A-Chaw stadiums should be full of team supporters Friday night.

Your respective high school football team needs your support Friday night.

Kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m. and we hope to see you at the game.

Don't forget to recycle your telephone books. There are several opportunities to have yours recycled.

Many students are out about the area collecting the old telephone directories as a fund-raising event for their respective schools.

In Bay St. Louis, Gulf Coast Recycling will accept old telephone books in the curbside recycling containers during the week of October 25-29.

There is a dumpster next to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and one also at Merchants Bank, Diamondhead.

I am hoping all telephone directories will be recycled this year. A lot of trees can be saved.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Corporal punishment rejects behavior, not the student

Dear Editor:

On the question of corporal punishment in the Bay-Waveland area schools, I am of the opinion that all too many students are being suspended instead of paddled or spanked for a variety of infractions of school rules.

In some cases the schools are even jailing students for fighting instead of using physical discipline to correct such misbehavior.

The jailing and/or suspension of students is the school's ultimate policy of rejection. Such rejection is totally negative and counterproductive to the student's social, educational and emotional development.

Whereas corporal punishment can be an appropriate method for maturing a student's development in the right direction without rejecting the student per se, but rather rejecting the student's misconduct.

In other words, the school's policy should be one of "I like you, but I don't like your behavior." The students should always know that they are accepted even if their behavior warrants paddlings from time to time.

In stating the above, I am responding to the recent meeting of the Bay-Waveland School Board and its decision to update its policy on corporal punishment in the schools.

I fully agree in creating a standard paddle for use in all schools in the district, while the strap or the belt should be phased out. However, I also believe that due to the increase of discipline problems and more recalcitrant students in today's schools there is a serious need to increase the number of licks for certain infractions in stead of the popular trend to decrease such imposition or to eliminate such punishment entirely.

All too often parents of misbehaving students are the same parents who oppose enforcement of any type of physical discipline believing they know best how to handle their rebellious or obnoxious offspring!

Ironically, it is those parents who knowingly or unknowingly contribute to their children acting out in school and in the community and later in society at large, because no one has disciplined the children.

Parents who refuse to permit the use of the paddle by authorized school personnel should not be allowed to enroll their offspring in school. If not that, then impose a monetary fine against parents each time their child commits a "spankable" offense in school. Such methods would soon make more parents more aware of the school's policy on corporal punishment, which, hopefully, will be strengthened and not weakened by members of the school board.

As an Anglican priest and a former British schoolmaster working closely with troubled youth, I have been intensely interested and concerned about the decline in traditional child-rearing methods and the emergence of non-traditional values as evidenced by today's ever-increasing juvenile crime, school dropout rates, teen drinking, drug-dependent youth, poor social and work skills, and an abiding disrespect for lawful authority among many of today's adolescents.

I find a goodly number of such youth have never been corporally punished or even given a fatherly spanking at elementary grade for outright misconduct. No wonder we have more and more students out of control in school, in the home, and, of course, on our streets!

Yet oddly enough, I find that many of those same youngsters yearn for someone to take enough care in them to discipline them for what they do wrong. Even if it means they're going to get paddled for it. They want firm and safe boundaries in their lives. And they want someone to give them something many have not been given about all else — unconditional love!

Faithfully,
Father M. Griffith-Mair, AB

Government should listen to its own advice

To the Editor:

The Sunday, Oct. 17 edition of your paper had a notice of "Finance workshops planned at library." The article states that the titles are "Making Ends Meet" and "Using Credit Wisely." The workshops are being sponsored by the Waveland library and the Mississippi

Cooperative Extension Service.

Topics to be covered are spending plans, financial goal setting, establishing credit, how credit bureaus work and how to get what you pay for.

I thought it most interesting that our government is sponsoring a program of this nature when it has a history of over-spending of funds (taxes), lack of spending plans, no apparent goal setting and how to use credit wisely.

I am not being critical of these upcoming workshops as the topics are timely and will prove to be beneficial to those participating.

What is strange to me is that at the grass-roots level some government employees see the need for helping the local people learn how to manage their money wisely. But in the higher echelons where there are "big bucks" involved, there is little or no thought given to managing wisely.

Perhaps, those people could learn some basic facts from workshops such as these instead of staged, previewed, televised "Town Hall"-type meetings.

Sincerely,
Juanita P. Brinsmade

To serve on a jury would be an honor

Dear Editor,

I recently read in a syndicated column that the first thing a law student learns in law school is to select the dumbest jury he can find.

It must be possible to go too far because that judge presiding over the Los Angeles truck driver case just ruled that a woman was too dumb to serve on a jury.

I have received many a summons to sit in the jury pools, but have never been selected to serve on a jury. If the defense attorney didn't reject me, the district attorney did. So, naturally, I was flattered when I read that statement in that syndicated column.

I had come to believe that the opposite was true. I was rejected so many times that I developed an inferiority complex.

I have always wanted to serve on a jury. That in itself seems dumb to most people. But if I am ever called again to do my civic duty, I am going to do my best Mortimer Snerd or Gomer Pyle impersonation.

If that doesn't work, I'm going to quit reading syndicated columns.

Sincerely yours,
Nicholas T. Haas Jr.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Taking the lead

Today's headlines give a bleak perspective to the state — young people being fatally shot, poor scores on national education tests, and various organizational leaders falling from the ranks due to corruption.

As one looks around at the day-to-day conditions of the state, the question of "Why?" must be posed. Why so much crime? Why the lack of solid education? Why misdeeds by outstanding citizens in the state's communities?

The answer lies in building solid leadership in communities across the state. Citizens who can take the state's communities in a positive direction must be sought and trained to take the initiative to make a change for Mississippi — a change for the better.

Without well-trained leaders, standards fall and motivation is weak among the general public. Leaders do just that — lead. Others follow. Though Mississippi has some outstanding leadership, the state has even more followers.

It is essential that the leaders of the state are trained in identifying problems in the state and finding the resources to solve these problems. Leaders must develop the ability to motivate individuals in Mississippi's communities to take a stand to move the state forward.

The Mississippi Economic Council identifies up-and-coming leaders in the state each year through Leadership Mississippi. Entering its 20th year, the program trains participants to identify problems in the state and propose solutions to these problems. In addition, participants learn how to make their leadership work in their communities.

Leadership is not a cure-all for the state's problems, but it is a positive step in the direction to end the unexcusable problems of the state.

With stronger community leaders, Mississippi will take the lead as a model state.

Littering is socially unacceptable behavior...

A celebration of our resources hosted at Pass Harbor Saturday

More than 8,000 students from Jackson, Harrison and Hancock county schools are participating in the third annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Celebrate the Gulf—Children's Art Festival, according to Sue Chamberlain, general chairman.

Celebrate the Gulf 1993 will be Saturday, Oct. 23 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Pass Christian Harbor.

The art festival encourages area students to take advantage of Celebrate the Gulf's educational opportunities and winning entries from the three counties will be on display at the event.

The day-long educational and entertaining event focuses on the resources of the Gulf of Mexico, and how Mississippi and other states bordering the Gulf are blessed with a rich natural abundance.

Chamberlain stated, "From commercial fishing to resource recovery, from shipping to tourism, from the most basic hands-on activity to high-tech industry, the Gulf touches each of us and contributes greatly to the quality of all our lives."

More than 30 national, regional and local organizations have accepted invitations to use this celebration as a means for sharing their ecological activities relating to marine wildlife, rivers, streams, estuaries and the Gulf.

Their exhibits range from in-depth, high-tech presentations, to playful hands-on displays. One of the special features of the day will be the Craftsman of the Gulf tent where informal seminars and demonstrations of net knitting, decoy carving, a nature photography workshop, lure making, and more will take place.

The day's activities have been planned for groups ranging from Pre-K through senior citizens.

The public is invited to participate in the fun and festivities, free of charge. Festival day trolleys will shuttle visitors from parking areas located throughout Pass Christian.

Coast Guard rescue demonstration part of Saturday's events

The U.S. Coast Guard will offer an encore performance of their dramatic sea-air rescue demonstration at Celebrate the Gulf Saturday.

"That demonstration stole the show last year, and we think it will be something special to see again this year," said chairman Sue Chamberlain.

Chamberlain said other highlights of the day would include the Pass Christian Dive and Rescue Team (with canine assistance), and the return of the popular "Recycle for Redfish" program, sponsored by Mississippi Power Company and Mississippi State University, who are cooperatively participating in a program to see if redfish can be raised commercially in aquaculture. The fingerlings are a product of that project, a MPC spokesman said.

There also will be a touch tank of marine life from the Dauphin Island Sea Lab, a Hobby Cat sailboat race, fly-tying demonstrations and the Craftsman of the Gulf will return. The Craftsman of the Gulf are men and women with unique skills such as net knitting, carving, photography and more.

Other exhibitors include the Aquarium of the Americas, Mississippi Wildlife Federation, the Gulf Coast Conservation Association, National Marine Fisheries Service, among others.

John Wilson and his Zydeco House Rockers Cajun band will entertain. All festival activities are free to the public, and there will be shuttle bus service from parking areas located throughout Pass Christian.

Kids fishing rodeo Oct. 23

The first annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Conservation Association kids fishing rodeo will be at the Celebrate the Gulf Marine Education Festival in the Pass Christian Harbor October 23.

The rodeo will be from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with registration beginning at 9 a.m. Free prizes will be given to the first 100 entrants in each division.

Children to age 18 may participate and must be accompanied by and adult. There is no entry fee.

The rodeo is a catch and release fishing rodeo. All fish must be weighed alive.

Hancock WalkAmerica breaks all records

Special to the Echo

Saturday, Oct. 16, 283 residents of Hancock County walked for the March of Dimes WalkAmerica along the beautiful beach front drive. The walk ended at Buccaneer State Park where lunch was served, totals were announced and prizes were awarded. $12,327 was raised for the March of Dimes Campaign For Healthier Babies.

The adult team raising the most money represented Bay Technical Associates and turned in $3,808. Bay High School once again won the Spirit Award by raising the most money, $1,432.

The top three students were awarded as follows:

Robert Clark, Hancock Junior High School, won a telephone for raising $305; Brandy Bordelon, Bay High School won a Boom-Box for raising $315; and Jennifer Storey, who walked with the Bay Tech Team, won a bicycle for raising $384.

The top adults were: Doris Williams, Hancock Medical Center, $791; Beth Burleson, Bay Tech, $723; Ida Macuick, Coast Electric Power Association, $270; and Conrad Williams, Bay Tech, $262.

All funds raised will be used to help reduce the incidence of low birth weight, birth defects and infant death.

The March of Dimes wishes to thank all the merchants and residents of Hancock County who made this year's walk such a big success.

Veterans Day parade set for November 11

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The annual jointly-sponsored Hancock County Veterans Day parade will be Thursday, Nov. 11, in Bay St. Louis.

This year's parade will be hosted by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 and is sponsored by all of the county's veterans organizations.

The parade will travel a new route this year, Clayton Thompson, Veteran's Day activities, chairman, said.

The parade will form at 9:30 a.m. on the U.S.-90 service road west of Riemann's Funeral Home and will begin at 10 a.m. The route this year will be Highway 90 west to Blue Meadow Road, Blue Meadow Road to Green Meadow, and disband in the Legion's parking lot.

This will be followed by a Veteran's Day service honoring all veterans and with a special guest speaker.

Following the ceremonies there will be a lunch at Post 139's home for all veterans and their guests, said Joe Bermond, post commander.

Bay High, Hancock High and St. Stanislaus high school bands, along with Pearl River Junior College's band will participate in the parade, Thompson said.

There will also be other marching groups.

The parade will be escorted by Mississippi State Troopers, Hancock County Sheriff's deputies, and Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police departments.

Last year's Veterans Day ceremonies were hosted by the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland.

Mississippi celebrates forests

"Celebrating Mississippi's Forests" is the theme of Forestry and Forest Products Week 1993, Oct. 17-23.

Governor Kirk Fordice signed a proclamation of the weeklong event, which recognizes the unique contributions of Mississippi's tree growers, foresters and the forest products industries to the state's economy and environment.

Mississippi has 17 million acres of commercial timberland—500,000 more acres than 30 years ago. About 30 trees were planted in the state last year for every man, woman and child living here. (That's about five times the national average.)

State Forester Jim Sledge Jr. of Jackson said that productivity of the state's forests reached an all-time high last year, with the value of harvested forest products at the first processing point (pulpwood yard, sawmill, etc.) reaching $810 million.

He said the growers received $516 million for their trees sold at the stump. "In all, our forests generated an estimated $4.5 billion in the state's economy."

"And at the same time we were utilizing a comparatively small acreage of our forests, the remaining acres of trees were busy protecting our watersheds, cleaning the air, providing wildlife habitat and serving our recreational and aesthetic needs," Sledge concluded.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

ATTENTION

The time is now to rush to Diamondhead's Discount Drugs to get your tickets for the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society's presentation of "Two In A Million" this Friday, Oct. 22, 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Those zany, multi-talented, marvelous entertainers from New Orleans, Becky Allen and David Tringali, will be doing a brand new musical cavalcade sure to please and delight all ticket holders.

Please remember no tickets sold at the door.

DIAMONDHEAD GARDEN CLUB

Catherine McPaul called the members to order on Wednesday, Oct. 20, 10 a.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center. The main topic was Bromeliads.

Alice Brameyer brought information to the group about how to grow, show and enjoy these unusual and beautiful plants. Members are asked to experiment and grow one or two to become more involved in this new garden club project.

Mrs. Lorraine Alvarez and Mrs. Ann Meyer served as hostesses.

CELEBRATION IN THE OAKS

Saturday, Oct. 16, about 136 folks, family and friends, got together at the "Oaks Park" for their second Oktoberfest.

Admission to this great party was $5 per person, which enabled the persons to partake of scrumptious sausages, turkey and meats cooked on those great Ducane Grills, every imaginable covered dish, and "sinful" desserts lined up buffet tables, along with your choice of beer or soft drinks.

There were games, music, prizes and autumn decorations.

As always, a few worked hard putting this event together, and the weather cooperated, too. It was a fun time, and everyone is looking forward to next year.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

For the second consecutive year, Diamondhead Academy students are winners in the Celebrate the Gulf Art contest.

Out of over 700 entries, Joe Munger, third grade, won first place and Louis Nunez, fifth grade, placed second. They will be honored at an awards ceremony on Saturday, Oct. 23, 1:30 p.m. at the Pass Christian Harbor.

Joe will receive a $50 savings bond, and Louis will receive a "Celebrate the Gulf" T-shirt. Our congratulations to both boys and their teacher, Dianne Seither.

RENOVATION COMPLETED

John La Foy, golf course architect, made his final inspection of the Pine Course in Diamondhead Sept. 21, indicating he was pleased with progress.

All contracted items were approved, with the exception of replacing a small number of sodded areas where the grass appeared to be dead.

La Foy commented that as soon as practical, the course should be opened for play with the proper control of "no carts on the fairways" and greens being cut to appropriate heights.

The targeted openings are front 9 mid-October and the back 9 on Nov. 5.

La Foy also says that any golf course, no matter what the cost of construction, generally requires two full growing seasons to reach maturity. Just know all those golfers out there can't wait to try out their skills on the "new Pines." Fore!

RISEING STARS

Diamondhead's newest thespians Sarah Gromko and Kara Kortman are basking in the spotlight of their successful performances in Nunsense II the Second Coming, directed by talented Roy Aultman at the Bay St. Louis Little Theater three weekends running, ending last Sunday, Oct. 17.

Our own Pokey Orr did a great job as assistant director and choreographer, as well as all of the cast of this delightful spoof.

The "acting bug" has taken a big bite of Beth Benvenuti, who was so good as Sister Leo. Ed McMahon's "Star Search," where are you?

BENEFIT BALL

"A gala night of nights" nears as the glitzy 19th century Mississippi Showboat journeys to the Diamondhead Country Club on Saturday, Nov. 13 at 6:30 p.m.

Be wined, dined and entertained in the grandeur befitting the era of bygone days. Be on board the Magnolia Belle for "The Magnolia Ball," $100 per couple to benefit Diamondhead Performing Arts Society.

For reservations, please call Mrs. Neal Hall, DPAS treasurer at 255-3578. Can't you just taste those mint juleps and smell those magnolia blossoms, ya'll?

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

Life is a gift of God, and aging is a natural part of living, involving the whole life span from birth to death. Older adults are not a different category of persons, but are simply those persons who have traveled further along the journey. An understanding of aging must therefore be concerned with all of life rather than only with the later years.

This understanding of aging

'Two In A Million' takes the stage Friday

affirms that older adults, as well as persons of all ages, need to continue to learn, to work, to love, to be open to new ideas and challenges, to enjoy a wide variety of interpersonal relationships and to engage in constructive activity, both giving and receiving during all of life, especially including the alter years of life.

MORE THOUGHTS

You need someone, and someone needs you. To make this thing called life work, we have to lean and support. And relate and respond. And give and take. And confess and forgive. And reach out to that loved one, a friend today, and have a wonderful week.

CEHS completes soccer season

Under the leadership of Coach Kevin Rooney, the Coast Episcopal High School soccer team recently completed its 1993 fall season.

The team competed in the Hattiesburg Youth Soccer Association Under-19 Division and finished with a 1-5 record.

According to Coach Rooney, "The team played very well all season, and we got better as we progressed. Our record does not accurately reflect how very well we played."

"Many of our members are first-year soccer players, and over half of our team are girls. They all did a fine job, but our opponents for the most part are boys' varsity high school teams who have played together for several years. All in all, our team played extremely well."

Sharks, Volcanos remain undefeated

VOLCANOS 7 STINGGRAYS 0

Saturday's action began with the Volcanos defeating the Stingrays by a score of 7-0. Michael Kivlan found the net four times, two of which came off assists from T. J. Koger and Kyle Sick. Koger added two goals (one assisted by Kivlan), and Derrick Ladner added one.

Other offensive standouts included the performances of Chris Caliva, Tre Hamilton, and the much improved play of Christopher Magee.

The Stingrays were led offensively by Brennan Marlowe, Greg Lamier, Luca Giardino and Matthew Saucier, all of whom made aggressive attacks on goal. Only a diving save by Koger stopped one such breakthrough.

Defensively, Brandon Higgins stymied numerous Volcano attacks. Higgins was backed up excellently by Austin Ladner, Patrick Mayo, Courtney Egan and Cody Cannon. Giardino, Saucier, Marlowe and Egan also served as keepers for the Stingrays.

Leading the way defensively for the Volcanos were Sean Olsen and Jennifer Magee as they contributed much to the team effort. Additionally, Derrick Ladner, Kyle Sick and Tre Hamilton made successful stops on the defensive end of the field. Keepers for the Volcanos were Koger, Caliva, Olsen and Hamilton.

RENEGADES 6 BLUE MARLINS 0

Game two saw the Renegades even their record at 1-1 with a 6-0 victory over the Blue Marlins. Timmy Kulikowski scored four goals and Josh Cousins added two.

Assists on the scores came from Heath Hansell with two and John Chapoton with one. Hansell, Kulikowski and Cousins used exceptional ball handling and passing skills to pressure the Marlin defense. Garrett Conn, John-Michael Stribbling, and Chapoton each contributed to the win on the defensive end of the field.

Sharing the goalkeeping responsibilities for the Renegades were Chapoton, Hansell, Chris France and Chris Lee.

The Blue Marlins were led offensively by Paul Loiacano, Brad Farrar and Marshall Wyle, who used good passes to pressure the Renegade goal. Dwayne Garcia played excellent defense, as did Christian Walter, James Wahl and Jason Lewis. Sean Harris had an outstanding game in the goal.

SHARKS 2 HAMMERHEADS 0

The Sharks remained unscathed following a Sunday afternoon battle of unbeaten. Beau Brodman struck paydirt first by reaching the net in the first quarter. Kent Benigno scored in the fourth quarter to salvage a 2-0 victory over the Hammerheads.

The game, played in the hot afternoon, was dominated on both sides by defense. Josh Lingsch of the Hammerheads made several attacks on the Shark goal, narrowly missing a shot in the third quarter.

Providing the defensive pressure for the Sharks were Jacob and Blaine Durbin who, along with Steven Boh and Beau Brodman, played excellently in the goal.

Assisting the keepers were fullbacks Chris Braud and Jonathan McShane. Whitney Bowne, Trey Mauffray, Brooks Breland and Colin Wilson supplied the defensive expertise for the Hammerheads along with Bruce Rushing, Joshua Maidenbaum and Michael Cure.

In addition to Brodman and Benigno, the Shark offense was bolstered by Nick Cooper. Assisting Lingsch in the Hammerhead attack was Patrick Donohoe and Colin Wilson. Wilson, Donohoe, Mauffray and Cure played the net for the Hammerheads.

Schedule for Saturday, Oct. 23

Fairconnetue named to PRC Hall of Fame

Pearl River Community College will induct three former football stars into its 1993 Sports Hall of Fame during special homecoming activities Saturday, Oct. 23.

New inductees include Nathaniel (Nate) Fairconnetue of Bay St. Louis, Richard Young of Pensacola, Fla., and Doug Holcomb of Nicholson, south of Poycune.

Fairconnetue was an all-star running back for the 1970 and 1971 Wildcats; Young was an all-state quarterback for the 1952 and 1953 Wildcats; and Holcomb was a two-time All-American guard on the same '52 and '53 teams.

Fairconnetue, assistant principal at Harrison Central High School, helped lead the Wildcats to the 1970 state championship and a 9-2 record. His 1971 team posted a 9-1 ledger, losing only to Mississippi Gulf Coast, the eventual national champion.

The PRC running back, who still holds several Wildcat rushing records, transferred to Delta State University and became its first 1,000-yard rusher. He began his coaching career at North Natchez High School and then spent 10 years as an assistant at Poycune High before becoming head coach at Poycune for four years.

Young played defensive back and backup quarterback on Dobie Holden's 1952 team and then led the 1953 team to a 9-0-1 ledger, the fourth best record ever by a PRC team.

Young who is now suffering from multiple sclerosis, played football at the Pensacola Navy Base after graduating from Georgia. He began an automobile business after service and remained in private business until 1984.

Holcomb is the only Pearl River athlete to gain All-American recognition twice. He also played on the championship teams of 1952 and 1953 as an offensive guard and defensive nose guard.

In 1948 Holcomb was named outstanding lineman for Poycune High's state championship team and the 1949 runner-up team.

College Football Highlights

For Oct. 23

Syracuse and Miami meet for the 12th time this Saturday in Miami, but Syracuse fans are still smarting from the 11th. In the Carrier Dome last November, the Orangemen nearly pulled off the rankings-rearranging upset of the year, mounting an end-of-the-game drive from six points behind the Hurricanes. But Syracuse QB Marvin Graves's pass to Chris Gedney as time expired left the Orangemen three yards short of the Miami end zone, and the 'Canes squeaked by 16-10. This year Miami should have an easier time of it, and come away with its sixth win over Syracuse in their last seven games.

In South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame hosts Southern California. The Irish have beaten the Trojans 10 years in a row, including a 31-23 victory in Los Angeles in '92 in which Notre Dame ran up 330 yards on the ground. For what it's worth, this is the first meeting of two coaching legends, N.D.'s Lou Holtz and USC's John Robinson. We're picking the Irish by 18.

Look for Kansas to get thumped by the resurgent Oklahoma Sooners in Norman, Okla. Kansas won last year at home, 27-10, but Oklahoma had won the previous seven meetings and holds a 60-24 edge (with six ties) in the longest uninterrupted series in NCAA Division I competition. The Sooners and Jayhawks have met every year since 1903, which makes this their 91st game. It won't be their closest.

Alabama will visit Mississippi in another series rich with history, this one begun in 1894. The Crimson Tide has won seven of the last eight games they've played—31-10 last year in University, Ala.

The last time Alabama lost to the Rebels was on Alabama's Homecoming Day in 1988—the day the Bryant Museum was dedicated. The Tide will win, but perhaps by the smallest margin of the nation's top teams.

A series that's older still? The battle for the Paul Bunyan Axe Trophy, of course. How's that again? We're talking about the 103-year-old rivalry between Minnesota and Wisconsin. The Badgers, who've improved from seventh in the Big Ten to the Top 20 in a single season, should make it three in a row over the Gophers in Minneapolis, and the score may not be far from last year's 34-6 drubbing.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Oct. 24-25

Buffalo, 29—**N.Y. Jets, 21

Don't be surprised by a repeat of last year's Bills-Jets results—even though Buffalo was seven games better than N.Y. in '92. The Bills won 24-20 in N.Y., then inexplicably lost 24-17 at home.

**Cleveland, 26—Pittsburgh, 23

It's been four years since the Browns and Steelers were both AFC Central contenders. They're close in the conference rankings in both offense and defense, and they tend to beat each other at home.

Detroit, 20—**L.A. Rams, 14

The Lions haven't beaten the Rams in L.A. since '82, but their Barry Sanders-led ground game should change that by exploiting the Rams defense's weakness. Detroit's back in a division race.

Green Bay, 22—**Tampa Bay, 15

In last year's visit to Tampa the Packers got swamped, 31-3, though they beat the Buccaneers later, 19-14. Green Bay showed Denver it can score points, but this game may swing on a kicker's leg.

**Houston, 32—Cincinnati, 19

The Oilers may be floundering, but at least they're easing into AFC Central competition. They have yet to face Cleveland or Pittsburgh. Houston has won its last four games against the Bengals.

**Miami, 30—Indianapolis, 20

In Week One, Dan Marino led the Dolphins on a 80-yard TD drive in the closing minutes—stop us if you've heard this before—to beat the Colts 24-20. Indy can be tough, but this won't be as close.

**New Orleans, 33—Atlanta, 16

Six weeks ago in Atlanta, former Saints QB Bobby Hebert led the Falcons to a tie with N.O. from 21 points down, only to lose 34-31 on a game-ending field goal. For Atlanta it's been downhill since.

**San Francisco, 32—Phoenix, 21

One of S.F.'s two losses last year was one of the Cardinals' four wins, a 24-14 surprise in Phoenix. This year the 49ers can't afford a throwaway loss, and the Cards can't win in Candlestick.

**Seattle, 19—New England, 12

The Patriots showed signs of hope two weeks ago in Phoenix, but the Seahawks have won three in a row from N.E.—all at Foxboro. Seattle's moving out of one AFC basement; the Pats... are trying.

Minnesota, 27—**Chicago, 23

(Monday) In the first Vikings-Bears battle a month and a half ago, Jim McMahon survived four sacks to lead his new teammates over his old ones, 10-7. Minnesota won last year's Monday nighter 38-10.

(Open date: Dallas, Denver, Kansas City, L.A. Raiders, N.Y. Giants, Philadelphia, San Diego, Washington)

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Tales of the Turtle's travels

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Like a bad apple, the Turtle just keeps turning up. I bet all you fishing folks out there in Hancock County thought ya got rid of the Turtle fa' good. Ha! No such luck!

The Turtle has been on a vacation for the past five or six weeks, and part of that time he was out of the country. He went to Costa Rica and to Key West, Fla. It is hard to tell if Costa Rica was the foreign country of if Key West was the foreign country.

In Costa Rica the Turtle used a giant green spotted mountain fly to catch a hinkle dinkle purple rain forest sail humming bird fish. Ya' should have seen it; it was a most unusual fish; the kind that you don't see much of hereabouts.

Matter of fact, the Turtle did not get to fish at all in Costa Rica. He did get to see the beautiful birds in the rain forest and to visit a butterfly farm which contained over one thousand species of butterflies.

The Pacific coast of Costa Rica is the home of some of the world records of game fish such as sailfish, marlin and several others. The facilities for deep sea fishing are said to be considered the best in this hemisphere. The color of the water in the Pacific is absolutely incredible. We just don't have water that clean out in the Gulf, no matter how far out you travel.

Key West is at the end of a very long auto trip to what seems like the end of the world. What makes it double difficult is that it costs so much to drive through Miami in order to get to the causeway that leads to Key West. The majority of the excessive cost is for gasoline. You see, armored personnel carriers get very poor gas mileage.

Some of the best coral reefs for skin diving in the country are located in the Florida Keys. The biggest reef is located on the Atlantic side of Key Largo. There are numerous glass bottom boats and snorkeling expeditions that are offered to the public in this area.

The various trips allow you to really enjoy some of the natural beauty of the Florida Keys. All of the folks who offered the trip keep saying something about some kind of "green" stuff that they needed in order to take a person on the trips. I guess they must burn the green stuff for fuel or something 'cause they always wanted more of the stuff than the Turtle could find.

For those of you who are interested, the Marathon Key International Bonefish Tournament begins at 4 p.m. at the Buccaneer Lodge, which as near as I can tell, is located somewhere in the Keys. The boundaries for the tournament are from the west end of the Channel Five Bridge, including all of Long Key to the east end of the Geiger Key on the ocean side and Snipes Point on the bay side. The registration fee is $120, and there are trophies for 10 different categories.

According to the International Game Fish Association, bonefish are powerful and run very fast when hooked. Fishing methods include plug, fly, or spin casting from a skiff, or while wading on tidal flats, using shrimp, crabs, clams, squid, sand bugs or similar baits. Bonefish have an abundance of bones (many small ones) and are considered less than popular table fare. I guess that means that they are not as good as speckled trout for fried filets.

Before you'll get in your armored personnel carriers and rush down to the Florida Keys to enter the bonefish tournament, you might take notice that I could not find out on what day or year this tournament was supposed to start at 4 p.m.

Meanwhile, back on the Coast, the fishin' is extraordinarily outstanding and otherwise pretty good. This means that the fish are biting.

The croaker hole at the mouth of Pearl River is full of croakers.

The entire grassy shoreline in Hancock County is producing record catches of flounders.

The trout and reds are being murdered on the fishin' piers. It ain't gonna get no better. So you better get fishin'.

This week's wonderful wise words: There ain't no place like home.

Better not go to Central America again, Turtle. Don't they eat turtle down there?

Upcoming events

CROSS COUNTRY—St. Stanislaus/Our Lady Academy Cross Country Invitational Tournament will feature competition among 23 schools Saturday at Buccaneer State Park. High school, junior varsity and junior high events are planned.

An open competition cross country race for men, women and children who can run from 1-3 miles is planned for noon. A donation of $2 is asked, and T-shirts are available at $10 each, according to coordinator Eddie Burgo.

For information, call SSC at 467-9057. SSC/OLA will host district competition in two weeks at Buccaneer State Park.

DEER PERMITS—The Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks will issue antlerless deer permits to qualifying landowners and hunting clubs at the Hancock County Courthouse on October 27.

The cost is $10. Qualified applicants must bring the following: a copy of the 1993 tax receipts for the land on which permits are being requested. A minimum of 25 acres is required to receive one permit. Additional permits may be requested at a rate of 1 per 50 acres;

—personal identification such as a drivers license, etc.;

—applicants who do not own the property on which permits are being requested must in addition bring a notarized letter signed by the landowner stating that the applicant does have sole hunting rights on the property.

No additional opportunities will be made to secure permits.

RUNNING—The Picayune Fall Classic, a 10K and one mile run, will be October 23 in Picayune.

For more information, call David Guizerix at 798-4881.

Bay Soccer league needs U-14 boys

Bay Area Youth Soccer is still in need of U-14 boys and will hold a late and final registration for the 1993-94 season Wednesday, Oct. 27 from 7-7:30 p.m. at the Old City Hall building in Bay St. Louis.

The registration fee is $35. Registration will cover the cost of the uniform. Boys born on Aug. 1, 1978 through Aug. 1, 1981 are invited to register.

Each youth player gets to play at least 50 percent of each game, regardless of age. All youth not previously registered with BAYS.

Teams will be selected immediately following this final sign-up. The season will begin in November and will end that last of March.

All players will need shin guards and soccer cleats or tennis shoes to play. For additional information contact Art Rieken, BAYS registrar, at 467-6267.

Special meeting of girls softball

The Bay-Waveland girls softball booster association will hold a special meeting at McDonald Field Saturday, October 23 at 1 p.m.

Final plans will be discussed for the upcoming haunted house and spacewalk to be constructed at the field.

SSC homecoming court announced

St. Stanislaus will celebrate its 1993 homecoming Friday, Oct. 22.

All alumni are invited to take part in the activities on the school campus, beginning with a pep rally in the gym Oct. 22 at 1:30 p.m. At 5:30 that evening alumni and friends are invited to a homecoming party in the Student Unions.

The homecoming game between St. Stanislaus and East Central will begin at 7:30 p.m. The court will be formally presented at half-time ceremonies and again at the homecoming dance on Saturday.

This year's queen will be announced during half-time. Homecoming court members are Hannah Erwin, Anna Hall, Lauren Bentz, Sarah Breerwood, Michelle Purchner and Marion Labat.

Erwin, a junior at Our Lady Academy, is a member of SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving), Campus Ministry, the yearbook staff, the school literary magazine, and Youth to Youth.

Hannah is junior class president and chairman of Peer Ministry. In addition to maintaining alpha honor roll status, she is a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students and has participated in Natural Helpers and the Princess Shoppe Teen Board.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Rodney W. Ladner of Bay St. Louis and John Erwin of Long Beach.

Hall an Our Lady Academy senior, is a member of SADD, the math and science team, and the cheerleading squad. She is vice-president of the National Honor Society, a former representative of the Co-ed Y Club and representative of the human relations committee.

Hancock High Pepsi Students

Each month one student representing each grade level at Hancock High School and two students representing the Hancock Vo-Tech Center are named "Pepsi Student of the Month." Each candidate receives a certificate and t-shirt. At the end of the year one junior high, one high school and one Vo-Tech Center "Pepsi Student of the Year" will be selected. Above, from left, are Kyla Gutierrez, 7th grade; Kandice Ladner, 8th grade; Erica Kuhns, 9th grade; Amanda Necaise, 10th grade; Jason Valentine, 11th grade; and Kim Gebbia, 12th grade. Right, Hancock Vo-Tech Center students Wiley Lee, a junior, and Sonja Shetter, a senior, were selected.

Celebrate the Gulf art winners

SSC student receives grand prize

Local students received awards in the 1993 Celebrate the Gulf Marine Education Festival art contest, with a St. Stanislaus senior winning the grand prize.

Overall winner Lonnie Becnel, the son of Mrs. Jodie Becnel of Sorrento, La., will receive a $100 savings bond. This is the second year in a row a student from SSC received the grand prize.

Other local winners from Hancock County were: Joe Munger, first place, Diamondhead Elementary; Louis Nunez, second place, Diamondhead Elementary; Jennifer Clark, third place, Hancock High School; and Natalie Mitchell, honorable mention, St. Clare.

Local winners from Harrison County included Hung Hoang, first place, Pass Christian High School and Janet Gilbert, honorable mention, Pass Christian Elementary.

Over 7,000 entries were received from schools across the three county coastal region. The art contest was sponsored by Hancock Bank and Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

Labat earns Ole Miss scholarship

Jennifer Mercedes Labat of Bay St. Louis is pursuing a degree at the University of Mississippi as the second Kennington Scholarship recipient in the School of Business Administration.

The scholarship was established by Sunburst Bank of Grenada to honor its longtime chief executive officer Robert E. Kennington II. The bank has committed $10,000 annual for five years to assist students studying banking and finance, with preference given to African-American students.

She will receive $2,500 a year until graduation, if she maintains a 2.75 grade-point average.

Labat graduated second in her class at Bay High School with an impressive scholastic leadership and civic record. She won the National Science Merit Award and was selected as a Pepsi Student of the Month four times. The Hancock County Exchange Club also recognized her as Student of the Month, as did the Kiwanis Club.

The student was selected as a Mississippi Girls' State delegate her junior year in high school and was named to "Who's Who Among American High School Students" for three years. A member of the Bay High Band, she was an officer of the Student Council, Interact Club and Spanish Club.

Labat has served as a church rector at St. Rose for four years and as a volunteer in the Inner School Reading Program. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jo Vaughn of Bay St. Louis.

Sunburst Bank president James T. Boone, left, and UM business school dean Dr. Randy Boxx, present Jennifer Labat with scholarship.

Welch named Nat. Merit Semifinalist

Terry Welch, a senior at Coast Episcopal High School, has been named a semifinalist in the 1994 National Merit Scholarship Program. Adam Burdick, also a CEHS senior, has been named a Commended Student in the National Merit Program.

As a semifinalist, Welch is eligible to advance to finalist status and to be considered for the 2,000 scholarships from the National Merit Program, as well as over 4,500 others offered by corporations, foundations and universities. The scores of National Merit Semifinalists represent less than one percent of U.S. graduating seniors.

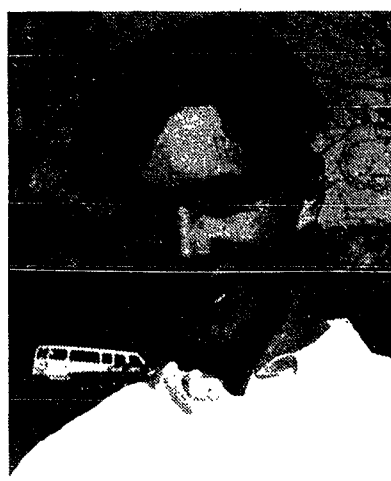

Welch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Welch of Pass Christian. He has served as both class president and student council president at CEHS.

Last year he placed first in biology in the state at the Mississippi Math and Science Competition.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, and the varsity baseball team. As a junior he was the recipient of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award and the Trinity Church Martha Guild Scholarship Award.

Burdick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burdick of Ocean Springs. Those named as Commended Students have shown exceptional academic promise by placing among the top five percent of the more than one million students who took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Burdick is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and SADD. He has been president of the Spanish Club and co-captain of the Scholars Bowl Team. He attended both Governor's School and the Presidential Classroom and last year received the Sewanee Book of Excellence Award.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Have rates dropped or increased after the 1992 cable regulations?

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

For consumers who, in an effort to keep household costs down, opt for basic cable and no additional services or hookups, the recent consumer cable law may have actually caused increasing costs.

In September, my cable bill rose slightly over $3 per month. According to my cable company, this increase was made to align their prices to the benchmarks set by Congress in the Cable Act of 1992.

The increase I paid last month is not unique to my cable company. It seems cable companies throughout the nation have raised rates to the new benchmarks.

The benchmark price levels are set according to how many channels are offered. In some cases, additional channels are added to basic service to allow the cable company to charge more for basic service.

Another technique for charging customers more in response to increasing regulation, is removing channels from basic cable. These channels then become a part of a separate tier in the cable company's pricing structure.

Because most of the law relates to basic cable rates, these new "packages" of channels are unregulated.

Not all cable consumers have been negatively affected. Many local consumers with additional services and TV hookups have actually seen their rates drop by $2 to $3 per month.

Cable companies can no longer charge for additional TV hookups. Rates for the popular expanded cable packages have dropped in many cases because of the federal benchmarks.

Revenues lost by the forced reductions in these packages have been recouped by some companies in their basic cable rates. The law does not prohibit increases in installation charges.

Thus, installation rates have jumped as much as 50% in some areas. In order to circumvent the requirement that additional TV hookups will not be charged for, Home Box Office customers will be charged for each set that receives HBO.

A major purpose of the cable regulations was to safeguard affordability of basic TV service for low-income families.

Unfortunately, the regulations have in many instances failed to accomplish this goal. Basic rates have become harder rather than easier for the family to afford.

The Federal Communications Commission is currently surveying the major cable companies to determine how much and where rates have risen.

Critics of the legislation say data used to develop the law was inaccurate and incomplete. Pressure to accomplish the original goals of the law may eventually force revisions that would further reduce cable rates.

In the interim, Congress is looking at ways to allow telephone companies to enter the cable industry. This would encourage competition as opposed to regulation and potentially bring better rates to consumers.

NASA, UM researchers combine resources to apply technology

Technology which explores the stars may soon assist physicians who need a better view of inner space.

Representatives from the John C. Stennis Space Center and other National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) laboratories are collaborating with University of Mississippi Medical Center physicians to see how new technology can give a three dimensional view of a bone fracture and allow surgeons a more detailed view of ulcers lining the stomach.

This is the first joint venture between the state's only space research laboratory and the state's only medical research center.

Other scientists at the Medical Center have worked with other NASA centers—those which study the effects of space travel on biological systems.

But Stennis is primarily a center for the development of propulsion and remote sensing technologies, and Rick Galle, director of technology transfer at Stennis, says the three-dimensional view of a bone break and better visualization of the stomach are problems they can solve.

"We develop and use all sorts of imaging techniques to look inside fuel lines and pipes and to analyze the pictures of earth from satellites," Galle said of the Stennis mission to test space shuttle engines.

Dr. Suman Das, professor of surgery and director of the division of plastic surgery at the Medical Center, is the surgeon who wants a way to see a bone break in three dimensions.

"Being able to see a fracture in three dimensions would be of great benefit to both surgeons and patients," Das said.

In addition to enhancing the diagnosis and treatment of patients with stomach and digestive problems, a clearer view of the stomach and digestive tract would also lend itself to better teaching, both concerns of Dr. Carol Scott-Conner, professor of surgery at the Medical Center.

Das initiated the contact with NASA by asking UMC physicians to submit a "problem" list to Galle's office.

"We submitted the list NASA-wide," Galle said. "Everyone who saw the list agreed that these researchers were at the cutting edge of their fields, and were knowledgeable about the existing technology. These are the kinds of institutions we like to ally ourselves with," Galle said.

Last year, the center unveiled the results of their collaboration with the Wilmer Eye

Institute of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland.

Eye specialists at Johns Hopkins contacted the Stennis center with their idea for a vision enhancement system for the vision impaired.

NASA developed the technology for the system—wrap around video screens—for the computer processing of satellite images. The product should be commercially available within the next year, Galle said.

Other NASA-UMC meetings are planned, said Galle, and the association between the two institutions should make sharing information much easier.

"There's been a growing gap between technology and medicine," Galle said. "We don't always know how what we've developed can be used in medicine, and researchers aren't always familiar with the technology that's available to help them solve problems."

"Collaborations like ours, which have no other purpose but technology application and development, can bridge that gap," Galle said.

G.C. Community Foundation completes Hardin challenge

The Gulf Coast Community Foundation (GCCF) announced it has successfully completed a challenge grant made by The Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian in January of 1991.

This grant required the GCCF to raise $125,000 within three years from local business and industry, that the Hardin Foundation would match with $75,000.

This pool of $200,000 forms the "Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education Challenge Grant Fund," and is used to seed permanent endowment funds for public education in South Mississippi.

As these education endowments are formed, and the funds evolve, they provide a self-sustaining mechanism to provide grants to educators and education organizations across the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The "Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education" fund is the educational arm of the Gulf Coast Community Foundation. This fund was re-named in September, 1991, to memorialize the deceased community leader.

Ms. Santucci, a former South Central Bell manager, was instrumental in organizing the Gulf Coast Community Foundation, and had a vital interest in the welfare of all South Mississippians.

The Gulf Coast Community Foundation is a federally tax exempt, nonprofit corporation dedicated to the progressive development of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

In its three and a half year history, it has operated to promote and provide leadership and support of programs in the areas of education, the arts, special welfare and special projects.

It acts as a unique vehicle for philanthropy to worthy causes by providing donor services, grants and leadership for problem-solving. The foundation is governed by a board of 25 civic leaders drawn from the three coastal counties and assisted by an executive director.

Major donors to this fund have included the Sibil C. Knoth Memorial Trust, South Central Bell, Mississippi Power Company and Hancock Bank.

Highlighting Thursday's events was the presentation of a check in the amount of $10,600 that represented the final donation to this fund by the board of the "Mississippi Beach International Science and Engineering Fair."

Richard F. Stewart, district manager of South Central Bell, presented his company's final payment of $10,000 on its $30,000 pledge to this fund.

GCCF vice president Paul Montjoy told local educators there are still matching funds available from the Foundation to start their own education endowment funds. He also pointed out that this challenge program has been instrumental in forming seven permanent endowment funds that total over $300,000, and in the past two and a half years, they have granted almost $170,000 for local education projects.

Companies who are interested in adding to the Challenge grant pool and partnering with the GCCF to benefit local public education, are urged to contact the Gulf Coast Community Foundation Office, P. O. Box 1899, Gulfport, MS 39502 or call 868-1563.

PRC assists companies with training projects

Pearl River Community College's Industrial Services Department is currently assisting 16 companies with everything from computer literacy programs to airplane fire, crash and rescue techniques.

Alex Ross, industrial services coordinator, has designed training or continuous improvement plans for the companies.

In partnership with the Office of Vocational-Technical Education at the State Department of Education, PRC helps industry within the college's six-county district with human resource training and development.

The college has assisted with Hancock County's Port & Harbor Fire, Crash and Rescue program at Stennis Airport. Rescuers have been better prepared for emergencies associated with the influx of heavy aircraft bringing people in for the gaming industry.

This same program will provide specific fire, crash and rescue training for all airports in the state. Ross said the major component being added is the ability to train in a "hot-fire burn" situation.

"This program provides real-time training in putting out a fire that could be associated with a crash," said Ross. About 59 people have received training in fire, crash and rescue techniques.

The Sunbeam Oster plant in Hattiesburg needed a computer literacy program for WordPerfect and Lotus 1-2-3. Sunbeam officials asked Pearl River for help, and the college aided in training 24 people.

CALGON CARBON

Calgon Carbon Corp. in Waveland is expanding its workforce, and Pearl River is helping in a selection process that includes an assessment center. About 80 people will go through this assessment center as they select new employees.

Calgon and Pearl River are also developing a comprehensive, upgrade and retraining program for current employees. The program will keep employees abreast of new technology in the industry which will affect the entire workforce.

Services coordinated by Ross include strategies for employee recruitment, assessment and selection, joint analyses, pre-burg. PRC is teaming up with Scott Pater Company to develop an in-house training program for upgrading personnel to achieve a cross-trained workforce. The program will involve more than 200 people.

PRC typically provides its industrial services at a site agreed to by the company or industry. Laboratories at the college's Poplarville and Hattiesburg campuses are often used in conjunction with plant site facilities to blend classroom and real-world experiences into ernment entities in Hancock County are taking advantage of the new lab.

Pearl River is also involved with the training manual and video development for overall training of 107 employees of GE Plastics. At Hercules in Hattiesburg, PRC provided 55 employees with courses in interpersonal skills needed to perform in today's world class economy.

Cooper Industries in Lubberton asked for a program in basic forklift training, and Baker Maid took advantage of pre-employment and post-employment training for its 12 employees.

Pearl River, in cooperation with the Mississippi Employment Security Commission, aids companies in recruiting, testing and screening of prospective employees according to a client's specifications.

Ross said the process usually begins in a joint meeting where the three parties discuss, define and refine the details of the task. The process is then set in motion according to a schedule set up by the company.

Pearl River's Skills Enhancement Training is designed to improve the basic academic skills embodied in a task so it can be performed more efficiently and effectively. Topics covered usually include basic reading, writing, math, communications and critical thinking skills.

Ross says Pearl River provides high quality, nationally recognized front-line leadership using Zenger Miller materials and certified trainers.

The company may customize training to meet specific needs, integrate it into an existing training program or use it as a stand alone program to develop human relation, problem solving and team concept skills.

meaningful instruction.

This month, PRC and NASA dedicated a training lab at Stennis Space Center to provide technical training needed to develop and operate a Geographical Information Systems Program.

This facility houses state-of-the-art equipment to train technicians in the use of the technology. The City of Hattiesburg and several companies and gov-

Leadership Miss. celebrates 20th year

Gulf Coast utility executive Tim A. Ryan has been chosen to participate in the 1993-94 class of the J. C. and Annie Redd Leadership Mississippi Program, celebrating its 20th year of leadership training and development.

The statewide leadership training program, sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council, identifies emerging leaders in Mississippi and helps them discover leadership skills which will have a positive influence on their communities and the state.

Created in 1974, Leadership Mississippi, the second statewide leadership training program of its kind in the nation, has trained over 600 leaders in the state.

Numerous graduates of Leadership Mississippi have become influential leaders locally and nationally, including U.S. Secretary of Agriculture

Mike Espy and Mississippi Secretary of State Dick Mopus.

"The membership of each Leadership Mississippi class reflects a cross section of the state — geographically, professionally, ethnically, and economically," said Paul Breazeale, senior partner of Breazeale, Saunders & O'Neil, Ltd., and Leadership Mississippi chairman.

"This diversity, along with the networking which takes place among class members, plays a major role in the development of leadership skills."

Ryan, assistant manager of South Central Bell in Gulfport, is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi. He is a board member of the Gulfport Council of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, and the Gulfport School District Advisory Board. He holds membership in the

Tim Ryan

Greater Picayune Chamber of Commerce and the Public Relations Association of Mississippi. Ryan is a member of the board for the United Way of South Mississippi and a past board member of the Rotary Club of Gulfport. He was active in the Partners in Education program with the Biloxi and Gulfport school systems. He is a member of the Mississippi Economic Council.

Thirty participants are chosen from nominees from throughout Mississippi, with the maximum age for participation being 40.

The 1993-94 program is scheduled to begin in October with a three-day retreat. The program agenda includes leadership skills training, a field exercise in identifying specific problem areas, and development of action plans for problem solving based on team research.

Training sessions are led by a faculty of distinguished university professors. The dean of the Leadership Mississippi faculty is Dr. Thomas L. Wells, dean of Continuing Education and Special Programs and special assistant to the Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of South Alabama in Mobile.

For more information on Leadership Mississippi or to learn more about becoming a part of next year's class, contact Nancy Baker at (601) 969-0022.

Two pass appraiser examinations

The Mississippi Real Estate Appraiser Licensing and Certification Board held licensing examinations Monday, Oct. 11 in Jackson.

Individuals who passed the examinations are: Mark Uram of Bay St. Louis, licensed appraiser, and Mary Ann Shippey of Waveland/Hattiesburg, certified residential appraiser.

Delchamps announces earnings

Delchamps Inc. announced net earnings for the 13-week period ended Oct. 2, 1993 were $4,121,000 an increase of 37.5 percent compared with $2,998,000 earned during the same period last fiscal year.

The current period's earnings includes the effect of adopting Statement of Financial Accounting Standard No. 109, ("SFAS No. 109"), "Accounting For Income Taxes." Excluding the effect of SFAS No. 109 on the current period's results, earnings increases 7.4 percent compared with the same period last year.

Town & Country converts to RE/MAX

Town & Country Real Estate Inc., 1070A Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, has become RE/MAX Town & Country, announced Jay Triche, broker/owner of the new company.

The 18-year-old local real estate company celebrated its new birth by offering free hot air balloon rides at the one-year anniversary of Casino Magic.

RE/MAX, which stands for "Real Estate Maximums" currently has over 35,000 top producing real estate associates in over 2,000 offices in the United States, Canada, Mexico and now expanding to Europe and Africa.

RE/MAX International Inc. has its home office in Denver, Colo. RE/MAX International associates close an average of 25 real estate transactions per year which is over three times the average associate.

Casino Magic completes $135 million financing

Casino Magic Corp. said that the company received net proceeds of approximately $128,775,000 from its previously announced private placement of $135 million of First Mortgage Notes and warrants to purchase 810,000 shares of common stock through BT Securities Corporation as sole placement agent.

The notes, which carry an interest rate of 11 1/2 percent and are secured by the assets and the stock of the company's two Mississippi Gulf Coast casinos, are due in 2001.

The warrants will be exercisable for three years at $25 per share. The notes were issued by Casino Magic Finance Corp., a special purpose finance subsidiary.

The next proceeds from the placement will be used to repay approximately $71 million primarily short-term indebtedness incurred in property acquisition and in constructing and equipping the company's Mississippi Gulf Coast casinos. The balance of the proceeds, approximately $57 million, will be used for general corporate purposes, including the evaluation and development of additional gaming opportunities.
